Executive Director's Message

2024 was a year of transition for the Glen Arbor Arts Center. Change can bring its share of challenges, and we certainly had a few. But our team was ready. Through flexibility, focus, and commitment, they kept things running smoothly and continued to deliver meaningful, creative experiences for our community.

We welcomed new staff members, adjusted to shifting roles, and found our footing together. What could have been a disruptive year instead became one of steady progress. Our programs remained strong, and the Arts Center continued to be a place where creativity and community thrive side by side.

Looking back, I am proud of how our staff, volunteers, and supporters met change with optimism and professionalism. Their resilience positions us to continue nurturing creativity, exploring new opportunities, and keeping the arts at the heart of our community.

Sincerely,

Scott Bouma
Executive Director

The Glen Arbor Arts Center has become a meaningful part of our lives in Glen Arbor. Whether we are volunteering, serving on committees, taking classes, or watching our grandchildren discover their own artistic creativity; these experiences bring us a great deal of pleasure.

We give to the art center because we value this exceptional community resource and we want to see it flourish well into the future. It also allows us to carry on our family's tradition of supporting the arts and championing local artists.
